Purpose of Presentation

- To provide an overview of the Ontario Victim Services Secretariat (OVSS) with a specific focus on the Victim/Witness Assistance Program
 - Victim services context in Ontario
 - Relationship with other key ministries and agencies
 - Ongoing programs for victims of crime
 - Time-limited projects for victims of crime
 - Victim/Witness Assistance Program

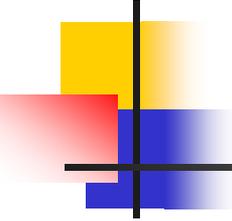

Victim Services Context In Ontario

- In Ontario, the victim services sector historically emerged from grassroots community based groups and women's groups which sought to improve the lives of victims of violence.
- In the past twenty-five years, the government has increased its public policy role and service investment in the victims services field.

Victim Services Context In Ontario

- The Ontario Victim Services Secretariat (OVSS) was established within this public interest context, and is mandated to work with community based stakeholders in the coordinated delivery of victim services.
- The majority of victim services are delivered by community partners and this important and unique relationship provides great opportunities for the future of victim services.

The Ontario Victim Services Secretariat (OVSS)

The Men's Project

- Crisis line for the 613 area code and counselling for victims of sexual assault in the Ottawa and Cornwall areas

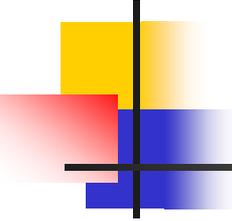

Ministry of the Attorney General

Victim/Witness Assistance Program

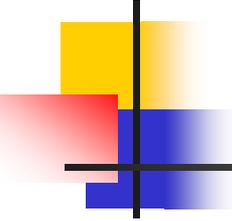

Victims and the Criminal Justice System

- Victims of crime often know very little about the criminal justice system or the courts
- Victims often feel lost, alone and powerless in the criminal justice system
- Victims often feel scared about having to testify for fear of retribution

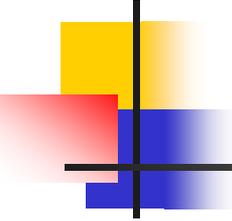

Victims and the Criminal Justice System

- Victims may feel pressure from family, people in their community or others not to testify
- Victims of crime who have a better understanding about the criminal justice process and feel that there are services available to help them are more often able to fully participate in the criminal court process

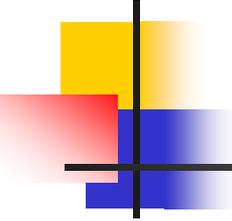

Who is the Victim/Witness Assistance Program?

- The Program started in 1987 with just 10 offices. Just twenty years later, it now operates out of 61 locations around Ontario
- Most Program offices are located in courthouses

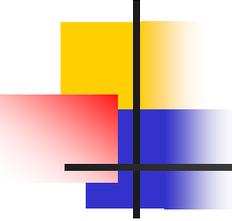

What Does the Victim/Witness Assistance Program Do?

- The purpose of the Program is to improve victims' understanding of, and participation in, the criminal justice system
- The Program attempts to make victims of crime feel supported and comfortable in the criminal court system by providing them with on-going assistance, information and services after the police have laid criminal charges

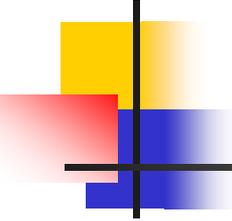

Who Receives the Services of the Victim/Witness Assistance Program?

- Last year the Program worked directly with over 40,000 victims
- The Program has limited resources and cannot serve all victims of crime
- The most vulnerable victims of crimes of violence listed below are offered services on a priority basis in all Program sites:
 - Domestic Violence Victims – DVC process including bail safety pilot
 - Child Abuse victims
 - Sexual Assault Victims
 - Families of homicide victims, and traffic deaths
 - Vulnerable victims with special needs
 - Elderly victims
 - Hate crime victims
 - Guns and Gangs

How Do Victims of Crime Get In Touch with the Victim/Witness Assistance Program?

- The Program works with victims who are referred to it by persons or organizations such as the police, the prosecutor, Children's Aid Societies, women's shelters, and community social agencies
- Victims of Crime can also come to, or call any of the Program's office directly for information and assistance

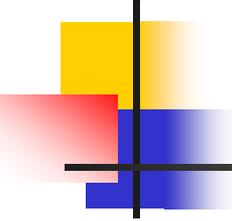

Victim's Bill of Rights

Victims' Bill of Rights:

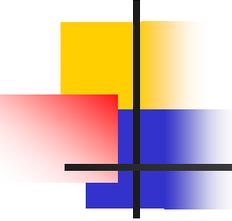

Provincial statute that sets out guiding principles to ensure that victims of crime are:

- Treated fairly
- Treated compassionately
- Treated in a way that does not discourage their participation in the justice process
- Given access to information about the criminal investigation, criminal charges, court process, judicial decisions, release orders, etc.

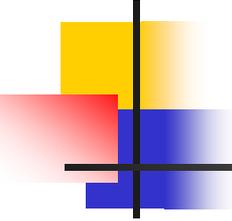

V/WAP Services for Victims of Crime

- Explain the various steps in a criminal trial
- Explain the different people involved in a criminal trial (for example, judge, prosecutor, defence counsel, court reporter and guards)
- Tour the courthouse and the courtroom
- Give case specific information to victims i.e. significant court dates and appearance types
- Prepare the victim for the criminal trial by going over the court process and explaining what will happen the day of court

V/WAP Services for Victims of Crime

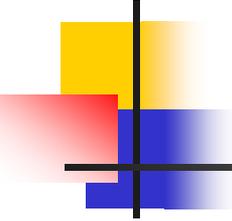

- Review possible testimonial aids
- Be a liaison between the victim, the prosecutor and the police
- Provide the prosecutor with the victim's input regarding bail conditions and sentencing
- In certain cases, accompany the victim to court when she or he testifies
- Provide the victim with copies of court documents
- Discuss VIS and CICB

V/WAP Services for Victims of Crime

Help victims deal with their immediate physical, emotional, housing and safety needs, including:

- Work with the victim to identify what they need
- Refer the victim to appropriate community agencies that can help victims to deal with specific needs
- Address safety planning with a victim
- Provide emotional support for example: validation of feelings/concerns, support during court appearances and debriefing after disposition.

What the Victim/Witness Assistance Program Does Not Do?

- The Program does not investigate crimes. It is not part of the police service. The Program works co-operatively with the police to ensure a victim's well-being
- The Program does not prosecute cases. It is not part of the prosecutor's office. The Program works co-operatively with the prosecutor to ensure a victim is well-supported for the trial
- The Program does not discuss a victim's evidence with him/her. The Program can arrange for a victim to talk about his/her evidence with the police or the prosecutor. VWAP has an obligation to share any information of evidentiary value with the Crown and police.
- The Program does not provide counselling services to victims. It refers victims to outside counsellors
- program has limited confidentiality in that it has a full sharing policy with the Crown's office and other justice partners.
